New President for Diabetes Victoria

Diabetes Victoria's Board Directors have elected their new President and Chair.

Mr Richard Loveridge will commence in the role of Diabetes Victoria's President and Chair with effect from 1 June 2022, when current President and Chair, Glen Noonan takes up his appointment as Diabetes Victoria's CEO.

Richard has been a member of the Diabetes Victoria Board since 2019. He is an experienced corporate and commercial lawyer, who was a partner at Herbert Smith Freehills for more than 21 years. Richard now holds several non-executive directorships.

Diabetes Victoria's representative on the Diabetes Australia Board has also been confirmed, and Ms Kathryn Arndt will assume this role also from 1 June 2022. Kathryn has been a member of the Diabetes Victoria Board since 2007.

Kathryn has CEO and non-executive Board Director experience across health services, community-based organisations, financial services, and industry associations. Kathryn is currently the CEO of the Victorian Local Governance Association; a Member of the Victorian Gender Equality Committee and Company Secretary: Royal Melbourne Tennis Club.

Current President and Chair Glen Noonan said, "I would like to congratulate Richard and Kathryn on their new positions on the Board.

"We have an excellent Board, which meets regularly to ensure Diabetes Victoria is well governed so it can best represent the interests of its members and all people impacted by diabetes.

"Our Board members bring a broad range of experience and knowledge, and all are committed to Diabetes Victoria's mission to support, empower and campaign for all Victorians, affected by, or at risk of, diabetes," he said.
